

Create and link a public photo album on your Facebook page.

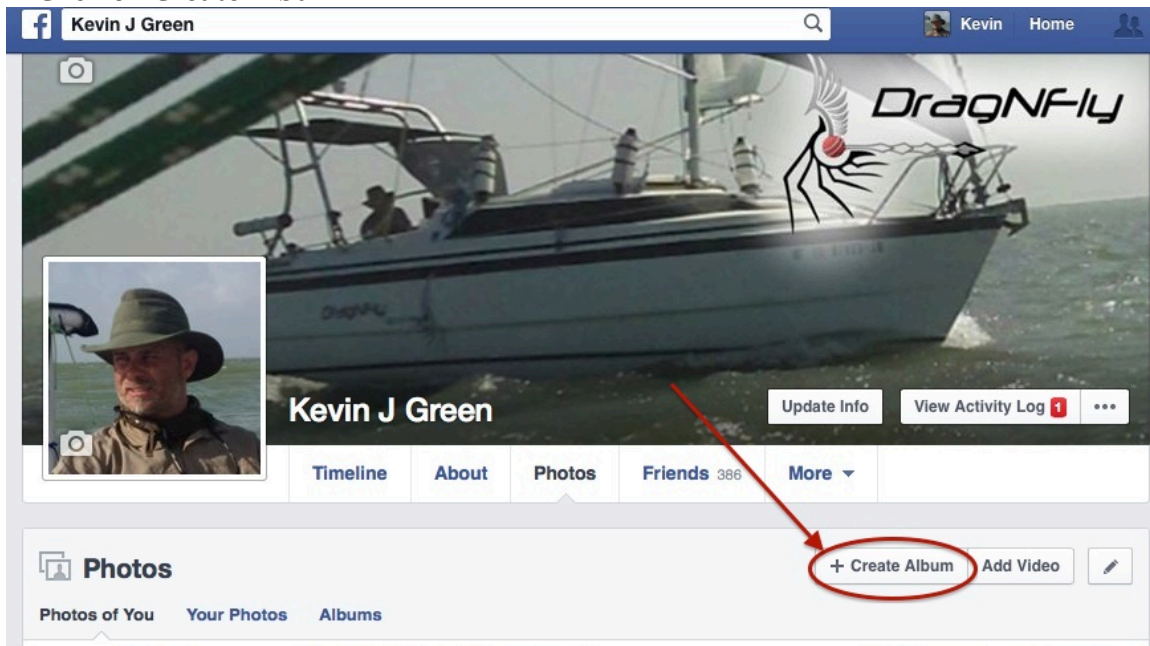

Facebook can be a great place to store and share pictures. I have not seen any pic I have posted get removed from being old, so the retention period is very long. Some folks find facebook a bit confusing, and lets face it... it is.. 😊 So hopefully these instructions will help some people out to share their Texas 200 pics with everyone.. Here it goes...

1. Go to your home Facebook page. This is the page where your profile pic and cover pic are shown..

2. Click on Create Album..

3. A selection window will open for you to pick all of the pictures you wish to upload from your computer to the album. Choose your photos..

4. Your pictures will go through an upload process which may take a while depending on how many pictures you have selected and if you have the "High Quality" option checked in the lower left..

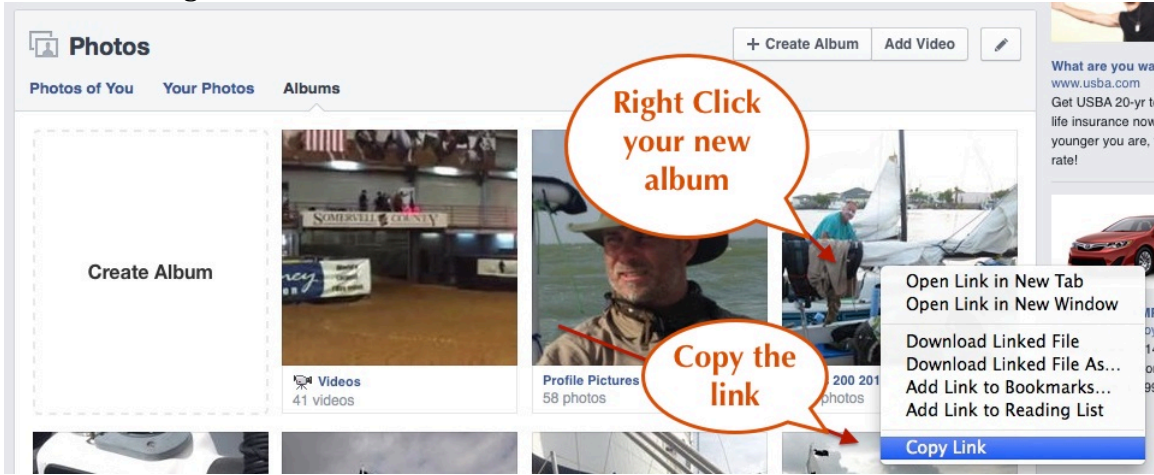

5. Once your pics are finished uploading, create a name for your album.
6. Be sure to make your album public so that everyone can see it.
7. Finally, click “Post Photos”

The screenshot shows the Facebook album creation process. At the top, there is a text input field for the album name, which contains "My New Album" and is circled in red. Below it is a description field with the placeholder "Say something about this album...". To the right, there is a location field "Where were these taken?" and buttons for "Change Date" and "Order by Date Taken". A photo of a boat is shown in a preview window with the caption "Say something about this photo...". To the right of the photo, there is an orange text annotation: "Create a name for your album." Below the photo, there is another orange text annotation: "Be sure to mark your album as public so everyone can see it." pointing to the "Album Privacy" dropdown menu. The dropdown menu is open, showing options: "Public" (checked and circled in red), "Friends", "Only Me", "Custom", "Close Friends", "Family", and "See all lists...". To the right of the dropdown, there is another orange text annotation: "Click Post Photos to finish" pointing to the "Post Photos" button, which is also circled in red. At the bottom left, there are buttons for "+ Add More Photos" and "High Quality". At the bottom right, there are buttons for "Public", "Cancel", and "Post Photos".

If your photos contain pics of people, there will be another window that comes up that will let you tag people in the photos.. You can add their names if you'd like, or click on “skip this step”

The screenshot shows the "Who is in these photos?" tagging window. At the top, there is a heading "Who is in these photos?". Below it, there is a paragraph of text: "To tag your friends, review the suggested names and click Save Tags at the bottom of this page. If a name is missing or incorrect, list a new name and press Enter. Remember: If someone doesn't like a photo, they can untag themselves or ask you to take it down." Below the text, there are two photo thumbnails. The first thumbnail shows a man's face, and the second shows a woman's face. Below each thumbnail, there is a name tag: "Kevin J Green" and "Jennifer Green". Each name tag has a small "x" icon to its right. At the bottom left, there is a link "Skip Tagging Friends". At the bottom right, there is a blue button "Save Tags".

8. Copy the link to your new album and paste it in groups where you'd like or send the link in to get it added to the Texas200.com website.

Hope this helps!!!
